THE CAFFEVOLVE BLUEPRINT · SUMMARIZED

The Blueprint, Summarized.

What every day looks like once the three tools are set up.

With the User Profile, Taste Profiles and Plan my Day in place, every cup is anticipated before you reach for it. Here is a full day with the Blueprint set, a close look at a single cup, what is left to decide at the machine, and what happens when the day doesn't go to plan.

EVERY CUP

Just a few taps, every cup.

When every day has a plan and every part of your day has a Taste Profile.

Your profile keeps you inside your Caffeine Comfort Zone the entire day. The time of day picks the Taste Profile you built and the drink you scheduled in the plan. When you walk up to the machine, your cup is ready to go. All that's left is to confirm it and press hold to brew.

Diane's Tuesday

A workday, with all three tools set up. Every time she reaches for coffee, the answer is already waiting.

Darker coffee in the cup means more caffeine. Her plan tapers it toward evening.

6:45 AM Home

She taps her profile, enters tonight's bedtime, and holds to brew.

AM Boost has her cup ready: 12 oz, strong, with collagen and vanilla. With every cup after this one, she simply confirms her bedtime or changes it.

DIDN'T THINK ABOUT ~~size~~ ~~strength~~ ~~add-ins~~ ~~how much caffeine~~

9:30 AM Office

Her mid-morning cup at work.

AM Focus has it ready: medium, with L-Theanine. A few taps, and she's back at her desk.

DIDN'T THINK ABOUT ~~whether a second cup this early leaves room for later~~

12:30 PM Coffee shop

Lunch with a colleague, and a 12 oz drip.

It's already in her plan, so the rest of her day is still on track. Nothing to log, nothing to adjust.

DIDN'T THINK ABOUT ~~what this does to tonight~~

3:00 PM Office

Her afternoon cup.

PM Deflate: light, with cinnamon spice, and much less caffeine than her morning cup. It still tastes like her coffee.

DIDN'T THINK ABOUT ~~whether it's too late for coffee~~

10:30 PM Bed

The whole day stayed within her limits. She sleeps.

Four drinks, three of them made by the machine, and not one decision at the machine.

Every day planned.

That Tuesday isn't a lucky day. Diane's week looks like this: three Taste Profiles shape her mornings and mid-afternoons, and two Routine Plans put a plan on every day of the week.

Diane is a real prototype profile. Her AM Boost, AM Focus and PM Deflate Taste Profiles come from it. The two Routine Plans were added here to show a complete setup.

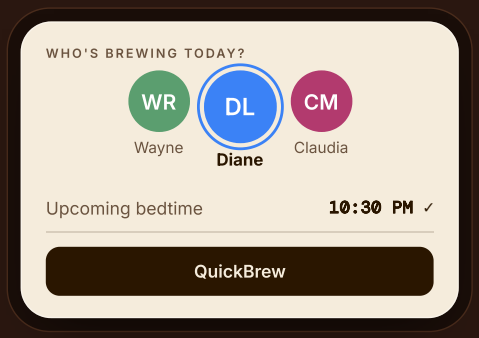

EVERY CUP, UP CLOSE

Confirm, then hold to brew.

01

Tap your profile

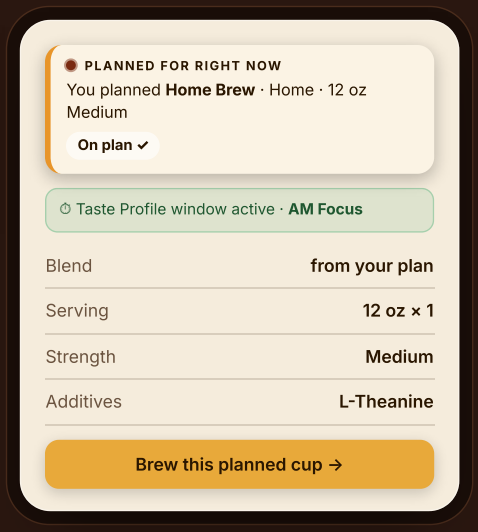

The first cup of the day also asks you to enter tonight's bedtime. Every cup after that shows it, so you can confirm it or change it.

02

Your cup is already decided

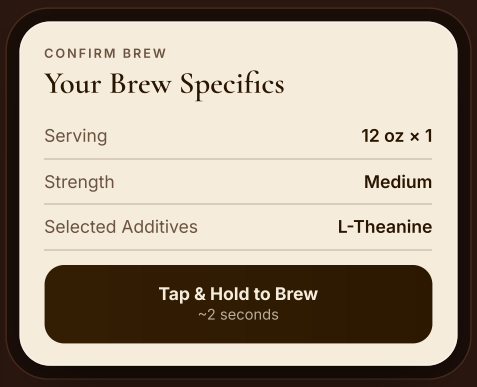

A note shows the cup you planned for right now and confirms your day is on track. Your plan sets the size and strength, and the Taste Profile for this time of day fills in the add-ins. One tap on Brew this planned cup takes it to the brewer.

03

Hold to brew

Two seconds. No sizes to choose, no add-ins to remember, and no wondering whether this cup will keep you up tonight.

BEFORE AND AFTER

Even with only a profile, Caffevolve™ recommends the right caffeine for each cup. Setting up the other two tools takes care of everything else.

WHEN YOU MAKE A CUP	PROFILE ONLY	ALL THREE TOOLS
How big a cup	you Choose	set From your plan
How strong	you Choose	set From the Taste Profile for this time
Which add-ins	you Choose from your list	set From the Taste Profile for this time
Will this cup keep me up tonight?	set Handled for this cup	set Handled for this cup and every cup still to come
Should I save room for a coffee later?	you Up to you	set Already worked out for the whole day
What you actually do	Several choices, then brew	Confirm, then hold for two seconds

WHEN THE DAY DOESN'T GO TO PLAN

The plan bends. It doesn't break.

Each time you brew, the Platform checks the cup against your plan, and every cup, planned or not, fits the plan. A cup within an hour and a half of a planned one counts as that cup. It asks only what it needs to know, and it never stops you from brewing. It suggests, you decide, and the machine always brews.

A cup a little early or late

It counts as the cup you planned. Nothing to answer.

A cup you didn't plan

One question: add it to today's plan, or does it replace a planned cup? Added, the rest of your day adjusts around it before you brew.

`Add it to today's plan · Replaces my 2:45 PM`

A change of plan

Drop a later cup and the one in your hand gets the extra caffeine. Add one and the rest of the day rebalances.

Why the full setup matters

The effort has an end

The profile and Taste Profiles take one sitting. Plan my Day takes one plan per kind of day, and most people need two. After that, setup is done.

ii

The reward comes every day

Every cup after setup takes just a few taps. The more of the week a person covers, the less they do at the machine, and the more each cup feels made for them.

iii

The setup is the account

A fully set-up profile holds a person's limits, Routine Plans and Taste Profiles. It belongs to the person, so it comes with them to any other Caffevolve-enabled machine.

> A little effort up front. An unequaled experience beyond: a coffee made just for you, just a few taps away.
